Assessment indicators

Values below are populated directly from the saved assessment output.

INDICATOR	VALUE	INTERPRETATION
Hair Fall	92%	Significant hair fall reported, well above the typical daily range — a strong signal for professional evaluation.
Density	85%	Significant thinning or bald patches reported, consistent with advanced-stage loss.
Stress	78%	High or chronic stress reported, which is a known contributor to accelerated shedding.
Nutrition	70%	Nutritional gaps reported may be compounding the underlying cause.

Important: unless clinically validated, percentages are assessment indicators generated by the questionnaire — not probabilities, diagnostic certainty or validated clinical severity scores.

Factors reported in your answers

Significant hair fall, visible bald patches or pattern thinning, high chronic stress and nutritional gaps were reported, often alongside a family history or suspected/diagnosed hormonal condition.

What this may mean

Your results indicate significant loss that is unlikely to resolve with lifestyle changes alone. Hormonal imbalance, chronic inflammation or pattern baldness may be involved, and early professional intervention gives the best chance of slowing or reversing progression.

Please seek timely medical evaluation for sudden or rapidly worsening symptoms, painful/inflamed scalp or skin, significant patchy hair loss, severe reactions or any other urgent concern.

Everyday care guidance

Medical-Grade Hair Loss Management

Continue any clinician-prescribed topical or oral treatment consistently, protect the scalp from further stress (heat, tight styling, harsh chemicals), and maintain a nutrient-dense diet alongside medical care.

Professional review

Book a dermatologist or trichologist consultation as soon as possible. Early-stage intervention with options like Finasteride, Spironolactone, PRP or Mesotherapy (under medical supervision) gives significantly better outcomes than waiting.

Follow-up plan

Follow up with your clinician in 4-6 weeks after starting treatment to review response and adjust the plan.

Any medicines, supplements, procedures or medical treatment must be assessed for suitability by an appropriately qualified clinician. Do not start or stop prescription medication solely on the basis of this automated report.
